

ELECTRONICS RECYCLING AND DISPOSAL

Skagit River Steel and Recycling in Burlington, 360-757-6096, takes computers and computer components, televisions, microwave ovens and other electronic equipment. Fees are based on size and weight, as the company must pay other companies to responsibly prepare the items for recycling.

Office Depot in Mount Vernon, 360-336-4979, sells prepaid boxes for shipping computers to recyclers. Fees depend on the size of the box.

Starting in January 2009, a new state law will allow recycling of computers and televisions at no cost to households, small businesses, charities, school districts, and small governments.

FLUORESCENT LIGHT TUBE & BULB RECYCLING

Fluorescent light tubes and bulbs are not allowed in the garbage. Take your burnt out fluorescent tubes and compact bulbs to the Skagit County Household Hazardous Waste Collection Facility so they can be recycled properly. The recycling service is offered at no charge to Skagit County residents, but there is a fee for commercial businesses.

APPLIANCE RECYCLING

Jaco Enviromental 1-800-414-5072, offers curbside pick up service of old appliances. Fees are based on the number of appliances recycled and whether they contain any Freon.